

Temperance Column.

Edited by J. A. Munden.

The Club meets every Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in Temperance Hall. The Public are invited.

HORRORS OF THE DRINK CURSE.

One of the last products of the pen of W. Jennings Demorest was a study of the liquor problem in his magazine, in which he says:

"We are fully aware of the fact that it is impossible to exaggerate the horrors and the extent of the misery produced in the homes of a large proportion of the people by this drink habit.

"We know that we can never fully estimate the loss and injury that the community suffer on account of its awful tax on the resources of labor. Nor can we fathom all the crime and degradation that are the direct outcome of this terrible appetite for strong drink.

"No amount of regret can atone for the wail of a mother's awful agony over her lost son, no amount of good intentions will compensate the wife of a drunken husband, no tears of anguish or even real repentance will ever repair the broken hearts or stifle the cries of homeless, starving children who have been made worse than fatherless by the toleration, and even protection, that the liquor traffic has obtained. Humanity alone will reveal all the horrors that this traffic in alcoholic poisons has produced."

FOR THE GRAND JURY'S NOTICE.

The grand jury of Pittsfield, Ill., not long since adopted the following resolution:

Whereas, Three-fourths of the time of the present grand jury has been taken up investigating cases caused directly or indirectly by the sale or use of intoxicating liquor, thereby causing great expense to the people of Pike county, and making much litigation in our courts; therefore be it

Resolved, That the best interests of Pike county would be advanced if the sale of intoxicating liquor was prevented within our state.

To-morrow's Temperance Column will contain an account of a whisky-drinking office-seeker's tactics, and how he was defeated.
